That good Paint Lick letter must have gotten lost by the high water as it failed to show up this week.

We wonder when we had no electric lights how we ever did without them.
Luxuries soon become necessities.

ENCOURAGE THE COMMERCIAL CLUB BY YOUR PRESENCE AT THE SCHOOL AUDITORIUM TO-NIGHT.

Elaborate arrangements have been completed at Owensboro for the en-compment of the State Militia which begins there today.

Wheat is sprouting, much hay has been damaged, as well as corn, in fact, the heavy rains have caused a great loss to Garrard farmers.

Division No. 1 of the C. W. B. M. will serve lunch in the park, to the Court Day Crowd, July 26th, coffee, sandwiches, pies and etc.

Canadian manufacturers met at Ottawa for the purpose of arranging for team work in the manufacture of munitions of war. It is planned to make shells that can be shipped directly to the armies in the fields.

The Head of Food and Drug Department at Lexington has sent out warning to all mills who bleach flour, to so brand as the law requires it. We wish to say if you will try Glen Lily you will get one that is made without bleaching.

The National Republican Progressive Union has been organized and headquarters organized in Washington.
The organization is intended to offset the National Republican Publicity League and to work for the nomination of a Progressive Republican for President

Blackberries are coming in slowly and the crop is much lighter than usual, although many though, there would be a large crop. In some sections that bring many berries to Lancaster there are none at all and there are few fears.
There will be some melons, but the heavy rains have damaged them in the low lands.

"GRAUSTARK"

Go to Danville to see "Graustark" the greatest picture ever shown in Central Kentucky. This famous picture will be shown at Stout's Theater next Thursday night. Read the advertisement elsewhere in this issue.

OUT OF COMMISSION.

The rain caused much damage to both public and private property. No water and no lights for the reason the engine and dynamo were flooded.
Both picture shows had to shut down but a vaudeville at Roman's entertained those seeking amusement.

CRITICALLY ILL.

As we go to press news has been received that Mr. Goodloe Lackey lies critically ill at his home in Kansas City.
A telegram to his mother, Mrs. Mary Lackey, of this city, says that he is now unconscious and that little hope is entertained for his recovery.

SAD DEATH.

Mr and Mrs C. F. Vanhook, who live on Creamery street, have the sympathy of their friends and neighbors in the loss of their eight year old daughter, Jule, who died Monday morning of whooping cough. The remains were taken to Maresburg, Rockcastle County, for burial.

CHIP OFF OLD BLOCK.

"Billy" Mason, of Lancaster, who is an Old Centre student, was in town Sunday. He is enthusiastic with the outlook for the famous old college.
"Billy" is the son of Hon. W. B. Mason, of Lancaster, and, like his clever daddy, a dead game sport. - Danville Messenger.

NEW OFFICERS INSTALLED.

Franklin Lodge, number 7, I. O. O.
F. installed the following officers to serve for the ensuing term, at their first meeting night in this month:

Noble Grand..... Dr. W. A. Wheeler
Vice Grand..... Mr. H. J. Gosney
Secretary..... Booth Sutton
Treasurer..... J. H. Dalton.

NOT ON YOUR LIFE.

It is announced that the stork, is hovering over high official circles in Washington. This happens every once in awhile and the daily newspapers print the names of the expectant mothers under heavy head lines on their front pages, and it is deemed all right.
Now if the Record should print a three line item of the kind concerning one of our own town women, the expectant father would probably come in and want to lick everything in the office.

PROGRESSIVE MEETING.

There will be a meet of the Progressives of Garrard county on July 17th 1915 at three o'clock in Lancaster. All progressives and those interested are urged to attend.

G. M. Patterson, Chairman of the Progressive Co. Cn.

CHURCH NEWS.

Rev. Author Chasey, of Muncie, Ind. will preach at the Baptist church next Sunday morning and evening. All are invited to hear him. Special invitation to the membership.

DR. W. A. GANFIELD

To Preach Here Sunday.

Dr. W. A. Ganfield, recently elected president of Center College, will preach at the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning and at the union services at the school Auditorium Sunday night.

A HANDSOME YOUNG CALLER.

The Record office has had a handsome young caller in the person of Dr.
James Burnett Gilbert. He left an order for cards but left his office hours off, as he is occupying the same office as his father for the present. He will make a specialty of colic when he does hang out his shingle, as he says his father is an utter failure at the aliment.

CHIEF BUCK A WORKER.

During the rain last Monday afternoon the dam at the water power plant overflowed and nearly three feet of water rose in the engine room and for a time it looked as if the city would be without fire protection for several days, but with a force of help under the direction of Superintendent Buck, everything was soon in working order and is now running smoothly. The water was turned off only a few hours.

COMMERCIAL CLUB HAS ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING OPEN SESSION TO-NIGHT

Public Invited To Hear Entertaining
Speakers.

One of the best meetings ever held by the Commercial Club since its organization, was that held last Thursday night, when a majority of the members were present and every one has something to say in the interest of the club that means so much to Lancaster and Garrard county. The club will have as its guests, this Thursday night, Mr. Edward A. Quarles, of the Lexington Board of Commerce, Messrs.
Robert M. Allen and Chas. D. Bohan-nan, of the Agricultural Experiment Station, who will give some interesting talks at the school Auditorium. This will be an open session and the public is both urged and requested to be present. All of the above gentlemen are entertaining speakers and it is to be hoped that the Auditorium will be filled to overflowing. The object of the meeting is the get-together kind among its members and their friends, which will serve to bring the citizens of the town and county, in closer touch, with a realization, that with renewed and co-operative effort, much is in store for Lancaster and Garrard county. Remember the Commercial Club is for Lancaster and Garrard county and the county and city should stand behind this organization. Be sure and attend the meeting to-night.

IMMENSE DAMAGE FROM CLOUDBURST LAST MONDAY AFTERNOON.

The heaviest rainfall in years and what appeared to have been a cloudburst, visited this section last Monday afternoon, between 4 and 5 o'clock, in-undating several sections of the lower part of the town. In a short while the residence of Mr. William Hughes, on Richmond avenue was flooded, the water reaching a depth of two feet on the lower floors. The Lancaster Motor Car Co., which occupies the basement floor of the Rex Theater building was submerged to the depth of several feet, and so suddenly did the water rise, that it was impossible to remove the dozen or more cars that were in the garage at the time. The damage here is several hundred dollars. The heaviest damage to property was on Sugar Creek, where several houses were washed entirely away. Mr. J. H.
Naylor had the misfortune to lose his house and its entire furnishings, not one thing was saved. The rear of the building of C. C. Barnett, was swept off, with entire contents and his loss is considerable. Mr. Will Smith who recently bought the old Baylor Jennings place, lost his entire tobacco crop of several acres, which was swept so clean that not even the soil is left.
The iron bridge at this place was carried down the stream for nearly a mile and is still in apparent good condition, but a mile from its base. Immense damage was done at Paint Lick, where practically every store in the town had from one to five feet of water on its floors. The largest sufferer from this water was, Hedrick and Son, who's store was flooded with at least five feet of water. Among the heavy losers there were Treadway, Denny & Co., O.
L. Hammack, George Conn, Guy Rice, W. A. Parks. Point Leavelle also got her share of the flood and great damage is reported from that place mostly from fences being washed away entailing heavy losses. The railroad track was wrecked in several places between Paint Lick and Stanford, which delayed all trains Monday night and Tuesday.

CANDIDATE FOR CIRCUIT CLERK.

W. B. MASON.

There is no man in public life in Garrard county more favorably or better known than the people of the county than W. B. Mason candidate for re-election to the office of circuit court clerk. In selecting a public servant the people do not usually overlook the qualifications and fitness of the candidate. Mr.
Mason by his special fitness and knowledge of the duties of this office not only has the reputation among the people of his county for efficiency but he is known over the state as one of the best circuit clerks in the State. When the circuit court convenes each morning, it matters not how much business may have been in court the day before the Court orders are not only ready but are correctly prepared. His knowledge and skill as a clerk is not only valuable to the people generally but as much so to the lawyers and litigants.
Mr. Mason is not only a good clerk but is said to be the "chimey corner" lawyer in the county, and is so recognized by the public to the extent that he is often consulted by the people who he always finds time to advise free of charge.

Not only is this polite and popular gentleman a good clerk but he is a democrat who is always working for his party. The people can not make a mistake in the election of Mr. Mason for they know that their important records will not only be correctly kept but will be safe in his hands. His daughter Miss Sue Shelby Mason will continue to act as deputy clerk in the event of his nomination and election in November.

ICE CREAM SUPPER.

The Ladies Aid of the Fairview church will give an ice cream supper, Saturday July 24th.

COHEN LOOKS A "WINNER."

Matt Cohn who now is now stumping the State in the interest of his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Commissioner of Agriculture, is proving very popular with the voters and it looks as if he had the nomination nailed down. Garrard county will roll up a big majority for him.

DANVILLE FAIR NEXT WEEK.

On Wednesday, July 21, the Danville Fair association will open its gates to what promises to be the biggest and best exhibition ever held on the historic old grounds, says The Danville Messenger. There is not a more ideal or inviting spot in Kentucky than the Danville fairgrounds. Abundance of shade, pure water and a splendid amphitheatre make it complete in every detail.

Secretary John S. Baughman told a reporter for The Messenger that more stall room has been engaged than has ever been the case, and the stock entered comes from the leading owners and horse handlers in Kentucky. The Danville Military Band has been engaged, and contracts are closed with many fine attractions. Make your arrangements right now to attend the Danville fair.

LANCASTER

Should Own Her Electric Light Plant.

At a meeting of the city council of Harrodsburg a few nights ago, the collector for the city lights of that thriving little city made the following report, which should convince anyone that our city should own its own plant;
"Mr. J. H. Grimes, light collector, made a splendid report. On July 1 he turned over to the treasurer $1,031.66, which is $351.25 increase over the corresponding month of 1914. His report showed that for the six months ending June 30, 1915, the sum of $5,376.98 was collected, which shows the gratifying increase of $1,057.76 over the first six months of last year. When it is remembered that our plant is furnishing consumers light at one-half of what any other town in Central Kentucky is charging. Mr. Grimes' report is a remarkably pleasing one. BY CHARG-ING THE SAME RATE AS OTHER CITIES THE LIGHT PLANT WOULD COME MIGHTY NEAR RUNNING
THE TOWN, but as the people own the plant it is the policy of the council to give the light at the very lowest figure.

THE ELLEN WILSON MEMORIAL.

A beautiful little white booklet entitled "The Ellen Wilson Memorial" has just been sent out and contains the following explanation of its origin, plans and purposes:

"While the statesman of the White House was busy with the cares of his great office his devoted companion was led to think of this splendid and neglected element in the life of the nation.

With a woman's unerring intuition her heart was enlisted in the uplift of the children of these stranded millions. When she saw her vision she was not disobedient to it, but threw herself with sacrificial earnestness into its call.

It is a far cry from the White House and DuPont Circle and the wide Potomac to the black mountains and the lonely valleys and the limpid streams that rush under dark pines and rhododendrons.

The Lady of the White House could forget state occasions and social duties while her heart made long pilgrimages to sympathize with the poor children of the dark valleys and the gloomy outlook.

She loved them and her heart yearned for their welfare.

She surrendered her heart to her Master in a passion to serve them.

It was given to her to see the vision of their need, and to taste somewhat of the joy of ministering to it.

Many boys and girls were having their opportunity for education, and many weary teachers were heartened in their lonely life by Mrs. Wilson's generous interest in them.

With her heart inspired by this noble task, she fell asleep, leaving its completion to others who love needy little children.

It is now proposed that the women of America undertake the fulfillment of Mrs. Wilson's dream as a memorial to her.

To that end a movement has been launched to establish an endowment to be known as "The Ellen Wilson Fund for the Christian Education of Mountain Youth."

The proposal has received the unqualified approval of President Wilson and his family, and "The Ellen Wilson Memorial" has been incorporated under the laws of Georgia with headquarters in Atlanta.

To insure the safe and proper investment of the fund, the charter provides that it shall be held in trust by The Executive Committee of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church in the United States, Incorporated, the income from which shall be turned over to a non-denominational board of women to administer.

In accordance with President Wilson's wish, the benefits of the fund will be available for students without reference to denomination or school attended, provided it is a Christian school.

The men and women of the nation who honor the memory of Ellen Wilson, and are interested in the educational and moral uplift of the people of the mountains, are now invited to assist in the creation of "The Ellen Wilson Fund" as a permanent tribute to her beautiful life.

As was said in the article this memorial has been incorporated under the laws of Georgia with headquarters in Atlanta. It will be of interest to Lancastrians to know Mrs. Nell Duncan Elkin is chairman of the administrative board, while Mrs. Edmond S. DeLong of Lexington is the Kentucky State President. Mrs. DeLong will be glad to give any information which may be desired as to the proposed fund, its distribution and plans for raising fund. We hope she will have the hearty co-operation of the Kentucky women in this great work.

HAIR AND SCALP NEED DAILY CARE.

If you value the appearance of your hair you should treat your scalp as often and well as you brush your teeth and rub into the scalp pores twice daily a little Parisian Sage. This treatment is not a mere "hair tonic." It is bottled nourishment for the hair roots and it is simply wonderful what an improvement its use for even a week, will make in the appearance of anyone's hair. It never injures, is delightfully cool and pleasant to the scalp and takes out the dull, lifeless look in the hair, making it soft, fluffy, glossy and beautiful. Two or three applications remove every trace of dandruff, and daily use will prevent its return. Sold by R. E. McKocerts and leading druggists everywhere.

Mrs. Laura Duke of Carthage, Tenn., was a victim of stomach disorders for several years. She lost appetite and her weight fell off. She could not rest at night.

She took Mayr's Wonderful Remedy—just a few doses—and found herself restored.

In fact, Mrs. Duke's recovery was so rapid she was afraid that it could be only temporary. So she waited from September, when she took the remedy, until the following February to pass judgment. Then she wrote:

"I write you in regard to your wonderful stomach remedy that I took last September. I feel better than I have in five years.
"My weight was 127½ pounds; now it is 147½, and I can eat anything I want. I sleep well at night. I would have written before, but I wanted to see how I got along."

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart. Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.

IN KENTUCKY.

Since the death of Judge James H. Mulligan we have had several requests for his most famous poem.

Judge Mulligan wrote a number of poems, but his "In Kentucky," first published in 1902, brought him his widest reputation. Read at a banquet in the old Phoenix Hotel given in February 1902, by the Lexington Chamber of Commerce to the members of the Legislature. "In Kentucky" has, in every conceivable form, circled the world. It has been heard by Kentuckians in Egypt, and millions of souvenir postal cards have been sold with its familiar lines upon them.

"IN KENTUCKY."

The moonlight falls the softest

In Kentucky;

The summer days come ofttest

In Kentucky;

Friendship is the strongest,

Love's light glows the longest;

Yet, wrong is always wrongest

In Kentucky.

Life's burdens bear the lightest,

In Kentucky;

The home fires burn the brightest

In Kentucky;

While players are the keenest,

Cards come out the meanest,

The pockets empties cleanest

In Kentucky.

The sun shines ever brightest

In Kentucky;

The breezes whisper lightest

In Kentucky;

Plain girls are the fewest

Maiden's eyes the bluest

Their little hearts are truest

In Kentucky.

Orators are the grandest

In Kentucky;

Officials are the blandest

In Kentucky;

Boys are all the fleetest,

Danger ever niggest,

Taxes are the highest

In Kentucky.

The bluegrass waves the bluest

In Kentucky.

Yet, blueblooms are the fewest (?)

In Kentucky;

Moonshine is the clearest,

By no means the dearest,

And yet it acts the queerest

In Kentucky.

The dove-notes are the saddest

In Kentucky;

The streams dance on the gladdest

In Kentucky;

Hip pockets are the thickest,

Pistol hands the slickest,

The cylinder turns quickest

In Kentucky.

The song birds are the sweetest

In Kentucky;

The thoroughbreds are fleetest

In Kentucky.

Mountains tower proudest,

Thunder peals the loudest;

The landscape is the grandest—

And politics—the damndest

In Kentucky.

No Doubt About It.

and prisoner, handcuffed together, on their way to the courtroom.

Daily Thought.
Nature has perfections in order to show that she is the image of God; and defects, in order to show that she is only his image.—Pascal.

For True Prosperity.
When there is perfect sincerity—when every man is true to himself, when every one strives to realize what he thinks the highest rectitude—then must all things prosper.—Herbert Spencer.

GOOD-BYE, MULE.

Henry Ford has confirmed the report that he had invented an automobile tractor; that he has purchased thousands of acres of land near Dearborn, Mich., and that he will begin the manufacture of tractors within two years. He plans ultimately to employ 20,000 men in this industry. Mr. Ford asserts that this new implement, which may cost $200 or less, will reduce at least one-third to cost of tilling the soil, will keep young men on the farm, which will produce a greater amount of food. According to present plans 1,000,000 tractors and 4,000,000 engines will be built yearly. Operations on the buildings for the manufacture of the new machines will start at once.

TO SUCCEED WITH ALFALFA.

Almost every farmer is interested in growing alfalfa. Some have tried it and failed. Many have succeeded and are reaping the benefits of this wonderful crop for livestock farms. As a hay crop it excels all others in yields, feeding value, drought resistance, and soil enrichment. Yet it is not advisable to attempt to grow alfalfa under all circumstances. It is a rather particular crop, requiring certain soil conditions and proper treatment. The beginner in alfalfa growing must first of all be a student of alfalfa. He must study the crop and learn its requirements. If he is not willing to pay attention to such important details as inoculation, liming, proper seeding methods, cutting at the proper stage, he had better not try to grow alfalfa.

SHEEP CROP SHORT.

Live Stock Sanitary Board Finds Crop of Stock Ewes Limited.

Sheep raisers, purchasing agents and the Kentucky Livestock Sanitary Board are confronted with a serious problem in regard to the importation of breeding ewes. The sheep industry in Kentucky has grown in the last three or four years from about 800,000 ewes to 1,300,000 and the price of spring lambs in this state, owing to their early arrival, is such that the lambs weighing 60 pounds bring more than their mothers on the market. Consequently, the lambs are sold off, few are saved for stock ewes and each year a quarter of a million ewes are imported. This spring the prices for lambs and sheep broke the record and resulted in the sale of ewes for mutton, with the result that the necessary importation of stock ewes will exceed previous years.

How to safeguard the importation so as to prevent the possibility of the foot and mouth disease being brought in is the problem that the Livestock Sanitary Board must solve. If the sheep are brought from the Far West, which has been free from the infection, there is danger of the disease being contracted from watering and feeding en route. The sanitary board will meet in Louisville on call of Commissioner of Agriculture Newman and consider ways and means. Lambs and wool brought into Kentucky annually about $3,000,000 and now exceed the value of the wheat crop. The members of the board hope not to hamper the industry, and yet must protect the live stock interests generally from another outbreak and the consequent quarantine.

HOMES WANTED FOR CHILDREN.

The Kentucky Children's Home Society has at present in its receiving Home 208 children. This is an unprecedented number for this season of the year, but owing to the conditions created by the world war, the Society is over-crowded with children.

We find it necessary to appeal once more to the citizens of Kentucky and ask them to take these children into their homes. We have 17 babies under the age of two, 105 boys and girls under the age of seven, 75 of which are between the age of two and five. The rest are older boys and girls between the age of 7 and 14.

It would not only be an act of charity on the part of our citizens to open their hearts and their homes to these little children, but in nine cases out of ten, these children will prove a great advantage and satisfaction to the families who take them. We do not believe that there are any finer looking children in the State than we have on hand at the present time.

The conditions in the work are serious; if we do not place these children promptly, we will be compelled to ask the Judges not to send us any more children until we can place a large number in homes. We do not want to do this, as we want the Institution open at all times to the call of the destitute, homeless child.

Will you not think of the need of each child for a mother and father and if possible, send us a letter telling us that you will take one of these little children into your home?

Yours very respectfully,
Geo. L. Sehon,
State Supt.

MARY ELLEN'S MAN

By HOPE AINSLEE.

(Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)
Mary Ellen did not know that the place she was entering was a pawnshop. It was tucked away in a quiet thoroughfare off Regent street and Mary Ellen just happened to be strolling through the quaint Soho district when an antique locket in the window caught her attention.

She bought the oddly beautiful locket and was persuaded to purchase, also, an equally curious old ring that the shopkeeper had in his possession. Mary Ellen was a shy, imaginative little person, whose world was peopled by fanciful characters. She was queer; she was merely different enough from the average girl to be mysterious.

Back in New York there were several suitors who wanted Mary Ellen's dainty hand for their own. It was partly owing to the persistent wooing of these admirers that Mary Ellen found herself in London. She had fled from the temptation to marry when she was not really as much in love as her fancy told her she should be. And her dream man possessed all the qualities that existed, respectively, in each of her suitors.

She held her new locket closely in her hand and looked at the face in it. She began to wish that she had lived in the age when he had lived—in the age of powder and patches.

An idea thrust itself into her dreams. She would return to America as the betrothed wife of the man in the locket. This would be a fitting way for her to avoid marrying any one of her suitors. She had long sought an excuse that would satisfy them. Her fictitious lover would be the excuse. And the antique ring would lend color to her story.

Few girls but Mary Ellen would have conceived so fanciful a plan of clearing her path of lovers. "And his name is 'Davie!'" she said to herself when she had discovered an engraved inscription inside the locket: "With love, Davie," the line ran.

"I shall call my fiance David Woodman, and say that he is an actor. My miniature of him was made in the character of Sir Charles Surface." Mary Ellen laughed at her own ingenuity. Indeed, so delighted was she with her fabric of romance that she sailed for home a week sooner than she had expected.

The romance woven around the man in the locket came to be acknowledged as a natural one. Mary Ellen had gone abroad and she had met her fate. One night Jimmy Vale stood in the bathroom of the Deerwent home looking at Mary Ellen as she danced with one of the men. She was as light as a zephyr, and even had Jimmy not been possessed of a hopeless love for the girl he would have enjoyed the grace of her.

Someone touched his arm. "That slim, quaint, beautiful little dancer in mauve—who is she?" David Garland asked him.

Jimmy turned to look at the man. He was the guest of the hostess, and they had merely shaken hands in being introduced.

"I'll present you—with pleasure," Jimmy hastened to say.

When Mary Ellen looked into the blue eyes of David Garland she would have turned and fled had not Jimmy restrained her. "Wait a minute, Mary Ellen. I want to present Mr. David Garland. Miss Moore," Jimmy added, with his best society bow. Then, without another word he left them.

David was so like the man in Mary Ellen's locket that the girl was stricken with amazement. She could scarcely raise her eyes to his scrutinizing gaze.

"There are two reasons for my wanting to meet you," she heard him saying. "One is—that locket." He said, looking at her treasure.

"I bought it in London," Mary Ellen confessed, blushing, and taking the locket in her hand. "And this ring I bought at the same time," she admitted, extending the ring for him to see.

Her heart beat fast; her dream was coming true. This man and the man whose face was pictured in her locket were in some way connected.

"I say, this is most curious," David was saying, half to himself, as he examined the ring on Mary Ellen's finger. He looked up at her. "Do you know that you are wearing my grandmother's engagement ring?"

Mary Ellen shook her head; she could not speak.

"And I believe there is a miniature of myself in that locket," David added. "Are—are you Davie?" Mary Ellen asked, breathlessly.

"I'm Davie," he laughed.

He then explained that his Grandmother Garland was so "keen on him" that she had had his miniature painted and set in a locket. She had had it done in powder and patch costume because, in that dress, he was more like his grandfather than over and it had pleased the elderly woman to see him thus. The locket and the ring had been stolen by a maid and had evidently been sold.

Mary Ellen looked up in startled amazement. "Do you know, it was a pawnshop that I bought them in—Soho!" she asked.

David laughed. "Bless that pawnbroker!" he said. "And this hesitation waits? Do you hesitate to dance with—Davie?" he asked.

Mary Ellen did not hesitate.

The most practical form of home mission work is being followed in the purposes and organization of the Ellen Wilson Memorial Fund for the Christian education of the mountain youth of the southern states, the monument to the women of the south will establish to the memory of the late Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

Mrs. W. S. Elkin, of Atlanta, Ga., who is chairman of the administrative board of the memorial fund, has appointed a chairman in each state of the central south. Their responsibility is to collect funds for the memorial, these to be used in scholarships for deserving boys and girls, in the mountain schools, already built for them. Organization has been perfected in Kentucky with Mrs. Edmond DeLong as chairman, who will collect the funds in Kentucky where there is already aroused a deep and affectionate interest in the movement the memorial represents.

Elsewhere in this paper is given a history of this memorial. Various means are being resorted to in every state for the raising of these funds.

Entertainments are being given and funds raised through scholarships, generally ranging in amount from $50 to $100. Life scholarships are being given in certain schools, the amount for these from $1,000 to $2,000. Ellen Wilson circles are being organized and the schools as well as the mountain boys and girls will feel the benefit of the new fund, even in the days of its organization.

In the efforts which have already been made in the interest of developing the mountain people, schools have been built in those sections of the mountains where it was believed they were accessible to the greatest number. The attendance has been good, and still there are those who can not attend for lack of the necessary tuition, or those whose parents are indifferent to the opportunity education gives their children.

It is the purpose of the board of the Ellen Wilson Memorial to find the worthy boys and girls in the mountain districts and give to them the opportunity of the scholarships. It is apparent, therefore, that the memorial can be of benefit, not only to the individual student, but to the schools, for with an increased maintenance through scholarships the facilities for the schools can be increased.

We feel sure Kentucky will do her part in this great work as she can now help her state directly through scholarship gifts to the Ellen Wilson Memorial Fund.

Official Washington takes a grave view of the situation produced by Germany's refusal to meet the demands of the United States growing out of the Lusitania incident, when more than one hundred Americans lost their lives. Upon President Wilson rests the burden of deciding the policy which the United States is to follow. Quietly and carefully he is considering the situation.

Officials generally agreed that the German reply was far from satisfactory, and that the United States was faced with another difficult situation in its relations with Germany. It was pointed out that the American Government and Germany had practically reached a deadlock on the law in the case, evidently neither side being willing to recede from its position. The situation was now thought to resolve itself entirely into a question of policy, which depends on President Wilson.

There was a revival of talk concerning the severance of diplomatic relations, it being recalled in official circles that in the now famous cabinet meeting of May 11, when the sinking of the Lusitania was first considered, there was an informal understanding that if the negotiation by the United States to secure reparation from Germany for the destruction of American lives in that tragedy failed, the American Government might be justified in discontinuing diplomatic intercourse with Germany.

Germany's complete evasion of liability for the loss of Americans on the Lusitania has revived the subject most acutely, according to well-informed persons.

For several days there has been an undertone of disappointment and apprehension all over the country as to Germany's note. Germany in its latest note has ignored the vital question and has shifted, now emphasizing the conditions under which it would promise complete immunity from danger to Americans traveling even on American ships.

The August primary is now a little more than three weeks off. While there are four candidates for Governor, it is well recognized that the real contest is between Stanley and McChesney. News comes from all parts of the state that lead us to believe that Stanley will win the nomination by a safe majority, in fact his friends claim that he will get an unprecedented majority for such a contest.

Democrats who do not want to see our party wrecked by the differences that must come by the adoption of State wide prohibition, look to Stanley as the strongest man for us to select, to lead in the fight against the republicans in November. Democrats who know that by the adoption of state wide prohibition, state and municipal taxes in Kentucky would be doubled and that such a party program would greatly endanger the success of our party in the state, from the county nominees up to Governor, believe that Stanley's nomination would save us from defeat.

Democrats know that this is not a wet and dry fight, that such statements are made simply to arouse the prejudice and obscure the real issue. The real issue is whether the democratic party will stand upon the county unit platform adopted four years ago, which was then a radical temperance platform or adopt state wide prohibition as a party measure and take the consequences. What would the consequences be to our party? Then, what would the immediate consequences be to our state should the party win upon such a platform? Of all times, this is one for democrats to stand upon a conservative platform, carry the state in November and get ready with a united party to give Kentucky to Woodrow Wilson in 1916.

At a recent meeting of the Kentucky Bar Association retiring President, Mr. Thomas, made some suggestions as to needed legislation in Kentucky, which is worth well to consider. His suggestion that the office of jailer and sheriff be combined, with the duties of collecting the taxes altogether eliminated, such a suggestion as would be a most valuable reform if enacted into a law. It would not only save the tax payers in Kentucky thousands of dollars, but we believe that the people would get more efficiency in the performance of the duties expected and required from these offices. The revenues of the country have become so large and the sheriff's office such a highly remunerative office that sheriffs in some counties neglect their duties as peace officers in collecting the taxes from which source they get their larger pay. The next Legislature in Kentucky could afford to make this change in our laws.

In our advertising columns this week our readers will find some articles by friends of McChesney's candidacy for Governor and promoters of state-wide prohibition. We are desirous that the people have both sides of this controversy. It will be observed an effort to promote the candidacy of Governor McDermott as against the candidacy of Stanley upon the same platform. The purpose of this is quite obvious. The McChesney people would like to divide the vote of those democrats who see in the adoption of state-wide prohibition a wreck of our party and the defeat of its nominees between McDermott and Stanley. The McChesney supporters are doing more to boost McDermott than any of McDermott's own supporters in Kentucky.

WHAT ABOUT THIS "BOTT"?

A recent issue of the Interior Journal, hands out something like this: "Joe S. Haselden, a mighty clever fellow and well equipped for the job, is the republican nominee for Representative from Garrard county, he having no opposition for the honor from his party. 'Joseph' has just installed a beautiful ice cream parlor in the 'Land of Now,' and then that went interfere. He will spend a few days canvassing, and finding that he has no chance to defeat the democratic nominee, will return to the 'Puritan,' the name of his place of business, and wonder why the deuce he ever left it to wander after strange and false gods.

"HUSBAND SMELT BAD"

In the trial at Harrodsburg of Mrs. Peavler for killing her husband, Mrs. W. A. Snapp swore that for two years she was a close neighbor to the defendant and that Mrs. Peavler frequently told her that she hated her husband and that she would have to kill him; that "he smelt bad," and that she would not cook anything for him; that "he smelt bad" and that she would like to take a shot gun and shoot out the heart of him, and that she had been practicing shooting in order that she could kill her husband as another Mercer county woman did a few years ago. Perhaps if women have heard several say she had justifiable grounds for killing. At any rate husbands should heed this warning.

STANFORD COURT DAY

A lot of good material went to waste at Stanford last Monday for the lack of a political speech that should have been made by some of the many candidates that were on hand that day. One of the largest crowds seen there in several months and several times during the day we were asked, "will any one speak to-day?" Handshaking was the order of the day and the candidates lost no time along this line. The cattle pens were crowded and most of them sold at what seemed fabulous prices. E. C. McWhorter bought 24 head of heifers, weight 600 pounds at 64 cents. J. B. Woods 25 head at same price. Woods Walker purchased four weanling calves at $35 a head. Center Bros five cows at $5.20 a hundred. Harris Brothers of Hubble, sold 30 yearling cattle to J. C. Caldwell of Boyle, for October delivery, for 74 cents and G. A. Swinebroad sold 40 head to same party for 74 cents for fall delivery. W. B. Burton bought 7 head of horses of different parties, ranging in price from $125 to $140.

TANKERSLEY.

After an illness of three weeks, Mrs. Susan Tankersley, age 67 years, of Hubble, died at the city hospital in Danville last Monday. Mrs. Tankersley was a most estimable woman. She was industrious, quiet and unassuming, always considerate of the rights and feelings of those with whom she came in contact. She was a devoted member of the Methodist church at Hubble, where the funeral services were conducted Wednesday morning, after which the remains were laid to rest in the Lancaster cemetery. She is survived by her husband and seven children, most of whom were at her bedside when she died. They and all who knew her will miss this good woman and are grieved at her sad death.

McCORMACK.

Mrs. Sallie Burnam McCormack died at her home on Danville Street last Tuesday night after an illness of two years. She was sixty-eight years old and her death was due to paralysis. She was the widow of Jno. C. McCormack, who died thirty years ago.

She had been a life long long member of the Presbyterian church and was a Godly woman, universally loved. When her husband died she was left with her children to rear, and those who know them can testify in truth, that in this capacity she left that impress upon each one of them that only a good mother can. She was likewise a kind and good neighbor, ever ready to render them any service that came within her power.

The funeral services will be conducted at her late residence on Danville St. this (Thursday) afternoon at 4 o'clock by Rev. J. Rockwell Smith. A large concourse of relatives, friends and neighbors will be present, giving evidence of the high esteem in which she was held. Many beautiful floral offerings will cover her last resting place in our city of the dead, tender memorials of that love she had left behind in the hearts of friends and kindred.

Mrs. McCormack is survived by three children Mr. Joe C. McCormack of Hendersonville, N. C., Mrs. W. O. Goodloe and Mrs. James Ramsey of this city.

YES WE THINK IT RAINED MONDAY.

Mr. 'Boots' Hughes says it rained Monday, and that he is some duck. Some might call him a lame duck, or an old duck, or a tough duck but anyway he can stay in the water as long as most ducklings.

RAINY WEATHER CAUSES ADVANCE IN JULY WHEAT

July wheat scored another good advance last week. Showery weather over the winter wheat belt with no signs of a let-up in the rainfall, which further retarded the movement of new wheat and delayed threshing operations, caused the strength in July. The advance in that month lifted prices of September and December, also. At the end of the week July was 2 cents higher than at the close of the previous week. September advanced 1 cent and December was 1 cent higher.

OLYMPIA SPRINGS RAIDED BY JUDGES ORDER.

Under orders of Circuit Judge W. A. Young, of Morehead, a raid was made on Olympia Springs, a summer resort in Bath county, and it is alleged, seven barrels of beer and a case of whiskey were confiscated. Perhaps this accounts for some of the "limpness" the Cynthia editor speaks of. But we are here to say it was dry, not only nothing to drink but nothing to eat during the press association. Yes, we put "limp" in Olympia and it sure reciprocated.

GURNEE AMUSEMENT COMPANY.

The fact that the management of the famous Hippodrome Theatre of Lexington, now known as the Ada Meade Theatre, has taken over the Roman's Opera House and will conduct it along its successful ideas has met with popular approval in Lancaster and while the new management has hardly had time in which to put into force much of its new policy, the knowledge that everything that is possible will be done to please the theatre goers has awakened new interest.

Mr. Elmer T. Ramsey, the resident manager, has been instructed by Mr. Gurnee, the president of the Gurnee Amusement Company, to meet all the theatre goers possible and find out from them personally just exactly the sort of pictures and entertainment desired and as this information is secured an average will be taken and the class of entertainment given from that time on will meet the public demand. The slogan of the new management is "give the public what it wants at all times" and the people of Lancaster will shortly discover that Mr. Ramsey will devote every possible minute to looking after his patrons interests. It would aid matters considerably if the patrons would seek out Mr. Ramsey and talk the situation over with him. Remember he is here to please everyone and the only way that difficult feat can be accomplished is to "get together".

Only the best pictures and entertainment will be shown at the Opera House at all times and as soon as Mr. Ramsey has a chance to feel things out, a season of very unusual features can be looked for.

PUGILIST ON LECTURE PLATFORM.

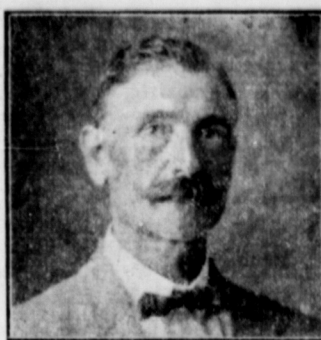

John L. Sullivan is said to be an impressive temperance lecturer, for the reason when he talks, he knows what he is talking about and when he faces an audience it is always an interested audience.

No American is better qualified than John L. Sullivan to impress an impressive lesson upon the value of temperance and the evils of intemperance. When he was in the heyday of his glory as a pugilist and at the height of his manly strength he injured himself at the flowing bowl and when he was whipped by Corbett at New Orleans twenty years ago and wept like a child, charging his defeat to "booze" there was no question in the public mind as to the validity of his explanation. His colors went down in the dust not before the valor and suppleness of "Gentleman Jim" but before the punishing blows of our old friend-and-enemy, John Barleycorn.

John L. Sullivan has led a quiet respectable life as a farmer in recent years and has abstained from drink. He began abstaining too late, but has stuck to the water wagon with persistency which commands respect. Battling Nelson once addressed Chicago school children upon the evils of smoking and there was quite an ado about the school children having been submitted to the bad influence of a pugilist. Nelson says that his abstinence was due to an address made when he was a school boy by Mrs. Ella Flag Young, who said that a boy should conserve his strength and try for a place at the top of the calling he chose. "Bat" chose fighting and eschewed cigarettes and whisky and landed at the top. It was altogether appropriate for him to tell school boys why they should not smoke.

TOGETHER UNDER THE LOG CABIN

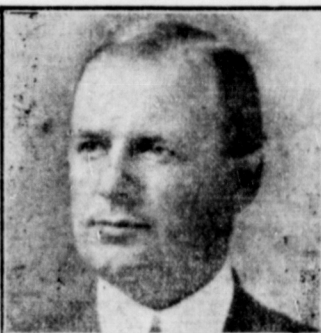

JOE HAMMONDS
Candidate For Sheriff.

HENLEY V. BASTIN
Candidate For Deputy Sheriff.

JOE BURNSIDE
Candidate For Circuit Clerk.

JOE HASELDEN
Candidate For Representative.

The undersigned members of the Garrard County Progressive Committee and of the Garrard County Republican Committee met together in Lancaster on Saturday July 3rd, 1915. It was decided that we join and unite ourselves together in harmony as one committee, each having equal votes and to be known as the Garrard County Republican Committee. This action was reported to the Republican State Committee and a list of the names of the undersigned was sent to them. At a meeting of the State Committee on July 6th, 1915 in Louisville, Ky., the action of the Garrard County Committee was endorsed and we the undersigned were recognized by them as the Garrard county Republican Committee.

At our meeting on July 3rd, 1915, we nominated a full ticket for Garrard County composed of Progressives and Republicans to run under the Log Cabin. The ticket is as follows: Joe Hammonds for Sheriff; with Henley V. Bastin for Deputy; Joe Burnside for Circuit Court Clerk, and Joe S. Haselden for Representative. We pledge our support and influence to these candidates and ask every Republican and Progressive to stand by us and help elect our full ticket in November.

The children of the present day will grow up to recognize Crane's Papers as the social standard of those who demand the best, as did their mothers, grandmothers, and great grandmothers before them.

Those who produce Crane's papers to-day inherited their ability from their forebears, the artisans of days now past. As rug weaving is a heritage of the Persians, diamond cutting a heritage of the Belgians, so is paper making a heritage of the workmen employed at the Crane Mills in Western Massachusetts.

GOOD FLY TRAP.

Mr. John Moss is the champion fly trap maker of the city and is putting out one for fifty cents that every housekeeper in the city and county should purchase. This trap will easily catch a quart of flies at one sitting and as there are 7,000 flies to one pint by actual count, you can readily see the traps are well worth the money. Buy one.

THE SIMPLE LIFE.

A chronicler of the events of a day during which Henry Ford—maker of those handsome automobiles you have to dodge when crossing streets—spent $50,000 entertaining a whole village tells of his $40,000 country home, but says that the owner sleeps in a tent on the lawn these summer nights. He likes it best out of doors.

Nowadays when the fresh air propaganda has taken a good grip upon the average man a tent is as good as a palace for sleeping quarters. It was always true that simplicity had great advantages, and that those who live the most luxuriously do not necessarily live more comfortably and happily than others.

Nearly anyone can have a tent in the yard, even if a sleeping porch is too expensive, and, therefore, "live like a multimillionaire" in one respect during the hot weather.

THE STANFORD FAIR.

The management of the Knights of Pythias Fair, to be held at Stanford, Ky., on August 18, 19 and 20, promises to give one of the best horse shows in Central Kentucky, and the other live stock departments will equal, if not excel, all past shows, and nothing that will make this fair one of the best in Kentucky will be left undone.

Liberal premiums will be given in all rings. The catalogue shows a most comprehensive classification. Among the attractions of the horse shows is a $100 colt stake, a $500 saddle stake and a $250 harness stake. The entries close July 20. Some of the best horses in Kentucky have been entered, and some lively contests will be witnessed.

Write at once to E. C. Walton, the secretary, for entry blanks and catalogues.

RETIRED FARMERS.

Of all the mental misery that comes to mortals, I know nothing quite so tragic as that of the retired farmer and the people who have to live with him. Get enough retired farmers in a town and they will start a melancholia hotel and produce economic boll-weevil. A prosperous farming community seems bound to produce a few of these malcontents. The very beauty and fertility of the soil makes it possible for a man to save up a little money, move to town and live a life of gossip and growl.

A farmer who farms is fine, but a retired farmer is fierce. The town to avoid is the town made up of retired farmers. In years ago I used to hear men say, "I intend to make my pile and retire from business and enjoy myself." I am glad to know that any one today who makes this remark is regarded as booked for the bughouse. The man who does not enjoy himself in his business will never know what happiness is. The limit of rest is very soon reached, and then misery follows fast. Well did Iago wail: "My occupation! My occupation! gone!" When your occupation is gone you had better throw your cosmic grip-sack overboard and jump overboard after it. Lack of occupation is not rest; a mind quite idle is a mind distressed. We must arrange our work so as to get a little rest every day. But too much rest is almost as bad as too much food. It was born of the old idea that work was a curse. Its parents were master and slave. Adam and Eve were punished by being compelled to go to work. And we have even punished children by compelling them to go to work.

Retired farmers are a blot and a blight on the civic prospects of any town. There is one State in the Union that is gradually going into creeping paralysis thru the number of farmers who have retired from business and moved to town in order to "enjoy themselves." The farmer works hard until he is fifty, fifty-five or sixty. He has a few thousand dollars in the bank. The mortgage has been cleared off. He has an opportunity to rent his place, or his children will manage it for him. He buys a house in town, turns the farm over to the boys or to renters, and looks forward to a long life of leisurely enjoyment. His habit of life is to be up at five o'clock in the morning, feeding horses, pigs, cattle and chickens, doing his chores, looking after a great number of details that have to have his personal attention. Tired and worn with this multiplicity of things to look after, he decides to throw up the whole job, and he does. Now he can get up any time that he wishes. He can lie abed until noon. There are no chores, no responsibilities, no horse-united, no cattle moving for him to come and minister to them.

His occupation is gone. His soul becomes corroded with discontent. He wanders around from the grocery to the post-office, then to the blacksmith shop. He stops and masticates the textiles. But the joy has gone out of his life, and his existence becomes one gradual, growing growl. He is miserable at home. He makes life miserable for every one else. He is the eternal critic of every enterprise. He is at war with progress and is fighting every improvement. He sees graft and selfishness on every hand. Luckily for the world, such do not last long. The man who lasts is the man who sticks to his job.

There is no business in the world so delightful as farming when you do not get too much of it. Leisure on the farm is a joy. To walk out over the broad acres and watch the growing things, be they animal or vegetable, is always pleasing. The overworked farmer thinks he wants a divorce, when all he needs is a vacation. The city man looks longingly forward to the time when he can move to the "old farm", and make it his home. The city man who buys a farm and moves to the country seldom makes a mistake. But for the farmer to move to town in the hope of finding rest is an illusion, tragic and terrible, not only for the man himself, but for his family, the farm and for the community.

Ireland, who for years was superintendent of the High School and was when most of the Alumni completed their course in this school, was toastmaster of the evening and proved an efficient one. It seemed to fill the hearts of all with joy when Prof. Ireland arose and began his address of the evening. James Cooper, who was president of the Alumni Club, gave the welcome address and then turned the crowd over to Mr. Ireland, who in his usual pleasing manner kept the crowd in laughter through the evening. All classes were represented by some member who gave short sketches of his classes since their departure. Prof. Ireland, who is held in great reverence by his former pupils was given the name of "Alma Mater" instead of "Alma Mater" which is very appropriate indeed. The four course supper that was served was elegant and thoroughly enjoyed by the seventy five Alumni and their friends.

THE RUTHERFORD GREATER SHOWS

At Blue Grass Fair, Lexington, Week of Aug. 2 to 7.

FIFTEEN BIG ATTRACTIONS.

Largest and Most Complete Amusement Enterprise in the World—Two Big Bands Furnish Music—La Rose Electric Fountain a Marvel of Beauty and Color—Wild West Features, Old Time Minstrels and Trip to Mars Features of the Shows.

The Rutherford Greater Shows which will be at the Blue Grass Fair at Lexington for the entire week of Aug. 2 to 7, is one of the largest and most complete amusement enterprises in the world, carrying fifteen attractions, including two big bands and an imported Berni organ, big free acts, etc.

This large tented organization travels on its own train of twenty cars, having all its own wagons and horses, and it employs about 300 people for its various attractions.

The feature show is the La Rose Electric Fountain. This is the only portable fountain in the world and has the distinction of being the only public attraction ever allowed to show in the United States custom house in Louisville, Ky. The Electric Fountain consists of fire, water and electricity and human life, showing electrical effects of every color of the rainbow, water spouting forth a hundred feet in the air and forming in columns and pyramids and, in the center of all this, beautiful living poses. This is all worked under the personal supervision of Mr. George La Rose, the inventor, and is absolutely the most beautiful of all electrical wonders.

The Wild West Show features Miss Julian Allen and her $10,000 dancing horse, Teddy. Teddy is superb in the art of riding and dancing and is the greatest of trick horses, being the nearest to human intelligence ever witnessed in an animal. There are also bucking bronchos ridden in a daring manner by cowboys and cowgirls, as in every other Wild West show.

The Reese Brothers' Africanders is a revival of the old time colored minstrels, such as has not been seen for years. It is a scream from start to finish of genuine down south dandies, songs and dances. The Africanders have their own band and orchestra.

A new departure has been made this year in the Autodrome. Heretofore motorcycles only have been used on the saucer shaped tracks, but this season a much larger drome is used and an automobile is driven at almost the speed of a cannon ball, 100 miles an hour, racing with the demon motorcycles. Miss Maud Smith has the honor of driving a Grand motorcar and is the only lady driver in the world having the nerve to participate in this thrilling exhibition. The track is built at an angle of seventy-eight degrees, and the speed must at all times be from 90 to 100 miles an hour, as they practically defy the laws of gravity.

Mon. The track is under the management of the world's greatest daredevil rider, Mr. J. Swan.

The Athletic Show featuring Paul Bowser and Cora Livingston is well known throughout the entire country and as a high class attraction, Mr. Bowser being the welterweight champion wrestler of the world and Miss Livingston being the champion lady wrestler of the world.

Zaino and Her Tango Girls hold forth at the vaudeville show, where the new dances and songs are shown.

Paulson's Big City, with its hundreds of little manikins in actual motion, is another attraction that all should see.

The Trip to Mars is another show that should not be missed. This feature is the greatest laugh producer that has ever been exhibited by any organization. The Trip to Mars takes you to clouds and instantly drops you what you think to be 1,000 feet, but it is absolutely harmless. By all means don't fail to pay it a visit.

Beauty and the Beast, the illusion show, is on the order of the great Kellar, Thurston and others.

Then comes Caruso and his den of living reptiles. In addition to these there is the brand new Hilarious Carousal of the latest type, three abreast, which has the distinction of being the largest and most finely carved machine of its kind in the world, having a carrying capacity of about 250.

Last but not least is the Ferris Wheel, managed by Mr. T. K. Edwards, which rises to about 100 feet in the air. It is one of the largest of its kind in the world. There are two big free attractions, music by Professor Matrazzini and his Royal Italian Band of twenty-five pieces. In conjunction with this there is a big seventy man band Berni Organ and Mr. La Rose's Electrical Air Callopes.

SCHOOL GARDEN PRODUCTS.

Big Premium Offered For Best and Most Attractive Exhibit.

An encouragement to the schools of the Blue Grass to engage in home and school gardening Mr. L. L. Haggin, president of the Blue Grass Fair Association, offers this year a premium of $50 to the public school that will make the best and most attractive exhibit.

The association and Mr. Haggin are glad to do this both because of the educational and economic value to the pupils who engage in home and school gardening and also because of its aim and purpose to promote agricultural pursuits in every way possible. A silver cup is also offered, which must be won two successive years by the same school to become a permanent possession.

The exhibit must consist of both vegetables and flowers which have been produced entirely by the pupils, the pupils of a single school combining for each exhibit.

Space for exhibit must be secured not later than Monday, July 26, and the exhibit must be in place not later than Monday, Aug. 2, at 12 o'clock noon.

It is hoped that every school in the Blue Grass will take advantage of this generous premium and enter the contest.

Inside History of Discovery.
Nearly every great discoverer owes a certain amount of gratitude to a native who was able to lead him to the place he was discovering.

Worth Remembering.
If you want to get a man's keenest attention, talk to him about something to eat or drink. If it is one of the dear sisters you are conversing with you will have to get your observations strongly concentrated upon babies or surgical operations.

Opinion Plainly Expressed.
The rehearsal had not gone at all to please the stage director, who, at its close, severely and unjustly criticized the leading man. In conclusion he said: "Say, do you think I have been a stage director for fifteen years for nothing?" "I can not say as to that," answered the actor suavely, "but if you haven't, you have cheated the management."

Canada's First Province.
The province of Ontario is fortunate in the abundance and variety of its natural resources as well as in the variety of its principal products. Though second in area to Quebec among the provinces of the dominion, Ontario easily ranks first in agricultural, manufacturing and mining products and second in the lumber industry.

America's Treasure.
The treasury of America lies in those ambitions, those energies, that cannot be restricted to a special favored class. It depends upon the inventions of unknown men, upon the originations of unknown men. Every country is renewed out of the ranks of the unknown, not out of the ranks of those already famous and powerful and in control.—Woodrow Wilson.

A Solar Plexus.

"Your apartment, sir," said the cynical flathunter to the stupid janitor with a cold in his head, "is not at all what you advertise it to be, but, as for yourself, I cheerfully admit that you live up to the specifications, for you are the finest specimen of a large, rheumy flat I have ever encountered." Whereupon he sped out into the cold world, leaving the janitor a prey to morose reflections.

Tide Affects Artesian Wells.

The effect of the tide on artesian wells is unusually pronounced in the Philippine Islands, and particularly in the Batangas province. A well located at Bauan, 298 feet in depth, and flowing 50 gallons a minute at a height of 15 inches above the earth's surface at low tide, at high tide flows 250 gallons to the minute, indicating an increase of 400 per cent over the flow at low tide.

SADDLE HORSES AT THE BLUE GRASS FAIR, LEXINGTON, KY., AUG. 2-7

SADDLE horses will be an important feature at Lexington this year. Outstanding in importance among the live stock features of the Blue Grass Fair will be the Kentucky stake, guaranteed $500, to be divided into six moneys. This stake closed with forty-three entries, representing all of the best breeders in central Kentucky, and was inaugurated this year by the Fair Association and the stake guaranteed by the management. Additional stakes for yearlings, two-year-olds and aged classes should make this year's program the most attractive ever seen at a fair for saddle horses, as both three and five gaited classes are provided for.

TO THE ISSUE SQUARELY. SHOULD THE PEOPLE RULE.

Hon. H. V. McChesney is a candidate for Governor of Kentucky on the democratic ticket, with state wide prohibition as the main issue asking that the democratic principle of the right of the people to rule find expression at the ballot box on this question, as with all others.

He was solicited by many of the good temperance people to make the race, because of his clear record as a christian gentleman and recognized ability to direct matters of state. There should be no confusion as the real nature of the situation. It is simply a WET and DRY FIGHT. County Unit in the hands of its friends has served a good purpose and has been a great relief to a majority of the counties in the state, but now the whiskey interests of Kentucky are making it their battle cry. Seventeen hundred saloons are supporting candidates that are preaching County Unit. The Model License League, the great whiskey organization in like manner. Why such sudden conversion? Are their purposes in harmony with what real temperance people mean by County Unit? If the whiskey interests can use County Unit as a battle cry and deceive enough people to get their men elected then they will do two things, make County Unit ineffective and pass such laws as will repeal every statute supporting the cause of righteous temperance.

Do not let the press at home or abroad mislead you by their fear of State-wide. The majority of the people in Tennessee are rejoicing and happy over the present situation, the same is true in West Virginia. If you would know the facts ask some representative Christian gentleman of either state and cease to depend upon a liquor press of any state.

Some of the opponents of Mr. McChesney are much afraid of the burden of taxation and accept the old statement of the liquor traffic as argument. They would also try to show how much they fear "General Haley," should a man be endorsed become Governor, when the fact is he is not on the side of the question to suit them. The whole thing resolves itself into this, which candidate stands for right, and which for wrong. Be careful and decide before you make a mistake.

What a McDermott Paper Says of the Campaign.

The Democratic State primary is now just four weeks off, but, judging by the changes that have marked the last ten days, the contest for the nomination for Governor is just beginning to enter in most interesting stage.

With things as mixed as they are, no one can prophesy safely what will happen next, but there is no doubt of what has been happening during the last ten days. Both Mr. McChesney and Mr. McDermott have gained ground rapidly, while Mr. Stanley has fallen back in the same ratio. The McChesney and the McDermott men differ as to which of these candidates has made the most progress, but even the Stanley supporters admit that their candidate is not nearly so strong as he appeared to be July 1. If the drift continues Mr. Stanley may be, to all practical purposes, out of the race by the end of the month.

The first blow to Mr. Stanley's cause came in Newport and Covington, a section of the State that had been claimed as "solid for Stanley." Those two cities did vote solidly for Stanley last year, but Mr. McDermott's recent visit developed the fact that the Stanley organization has collapsed in Newport, and is tottering in Covington. Mr. McDermott has also gained important strength in Central Kentucky, and much of this has come directly from the Stanley vote while the effort to perfect a Stanley organization in Louisville has seemingly failed.

At the same time reports from both Eastern and Western Kentucky tell of a big drift to McChesney. The McChesney men have held their campaign back to the last thirty days of the fight. They are now aggressive, energetic and apparently confident, and, as they increase in confidence, the confidence of the supporters of Mr. Stanley diminishes. — Louisville Post.

Some Prohibition And Whisky Pointers.

The Only Remedy For the Lawless Liquor Traffic

A free unrestricted liquor traffic or no liquor traffic at all, for so long as there is a liquor traffic it will violate every law enacted to restrict it. It must be no liquor traffic or no law.

Why Temperance People of Kentucky This Year Advance From the County Unit Law to Submission of State-Wide.

For the same reason that in other years they advanced from the precinct unit to the county unit, and later from the modified county unit to the uniform county unit. This time the plan and spirit of all reforms to advance as rapidly as conditions will justify, and organized public sentiment will sustain the advance.

How Can We Get the Liquor Question

Out of Kentucky Politics?

There is but one possible way—get liquor out of Kentucky.

Those Now Opposed to State-Wide Prohibition in Kentucky.

First, those who are directly or indirectly interested financially in the liquor traffic. Second, some political ambitions by playing to the liquor interests. Third, those who have not yet caught a vision of the larger moral, economic and governmental possibilities of the people under Prohibition.

Is the Issue of State-Wide Prohibition Naturally a Divisive Factor?

No. Some newspapers, however, suggest that this issue is calculated to breed dissension in the political parties. It is not the man who is for the submission of state-wide Prohibition that brings dissension; it is the man who is lagging behind and standing for a dead issue. — The American Issue.

THE FAMOUS OLD CRAB ORCHARD SPRINGS

Delightful Resort the Mecca for Large and Happy Crowd of Guest Who Are Having Joying Times in Daily Doing.

Crab Orchard, Ky., July 14—Central Kentucky is well represented at Crab Orchard, and all diversions known to modern society are being indulged in. There are morning fishing and hunting and trotting parties, afternoon bridge and five hundred "seat" games and nightly dances.

An excellent orchestra, composed of Sydney Freeman, violinist, of Lexington; E. A. Babbage, cornist, of Pineville, a student at State University; Miss Elizabeth Andrews, pianist, of Flemingsburg, and Speed Kendrickson, drummer, of Pineville, furnishes the music.

Two Bluegrass men are acting as clerks, seeing after the comfort of the guests. Albert Severance, of Stanford, brother of Rev. Joseph Severance, of Frankfort, and Josh Hill, manager of the baseball team and athlete, of Georgetown College 1915.

Much attention is being attracted to Percy Chambers, of London, who though stone blind, plays cards with the rapidity of a keen-eyed veteran. The red cards are distinguished from the black by a mark and by touching each he knows immediately a spade from a heart.

ANNOYING AND DISGUSTING.

Cynthiana Democrat—Monday night at the Chautauqua a number of grown people who should have had more sense persisted in having social chats, much to the annoyance and disgust of all within the sound of their voices who wanted to enjoy the program. There is excuse for children and babies disturbing other people, for they are not expected to know better; but there is no excuse for a grown-up. Those who cannot be silent for an hour or two ought to stay at home.

SEVERANCE OF DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS FORECAST BY REPLY. SAYS MCCREARY

While characteristically conservative in utterance Gov. McCreary when asked for an expression in regard to the most recent German note indicated his opinion that a rupture of diplomatic relations is imminent. He said: "The reply of the German Government to the last note of President Wilson does not seem to be satisfactory, but I believe the President will be equal to the demands of the situation. I am not willing at the present time to make declarations or suggestions as to his duty. The outlook, however, indicates that the President may have to consider the important subject of severing diplomatic relations between the United States and Germany."
